Guest lectures organized on Human Values and Ethics Academic Year 2022-2023

Title of the programme: Motivational Programme
Name of the Speaker: Sri. B. Subramanyam
Objective: Importance of Building Skills in Students Life
Venue: KOR Auditorium
Date: 11.11.2022
No. of audience: Students: 336 Faculty: 11

The Department of Humanities and Sciences in association with Unacademy organized Motivational Programme on 11.11.2022 at KOR Auditorium at 10:00 AM. Over 336 students studying first-year B.Tech filled the vast auditorium, and they listened in rapt attention as the speaker went on relating the daily life experiences and how they affect one's personality development. Do not watch television and use mobile phones while eating food. It will have a negative impact on your personality. Communication skills are your abilities when giving and receiving different kinds of information. Some examples include communicating new ideas, feelings, or even an update on your project. Communication skills involve listening, speaking, observing, and empathizing. It is also helpful to understand the differences in how to communicate through face-to-face interactions, phone conversations and digital communications like email and social media. Eating positively is eating without any diversion," Subramanyam explained.

Mr. B. Subramanyam creating an awareness on "the Importance of building skills" in student's life.

Guest lectures organized on Human Values and Ethics Academic Year 2021-2022

Title of the programme:	Self Esteem
Name of the Speaker:	Sri. Maharshi Sagar
Objective:	How to live in the society with Confident
Venue:	KOR Auditorium
Date:	04.01.2022
No. of audience:	Students: 535 Faculty: 15

Self-esteem is your opinion of yourself. Everyone lacks confidence occasionally but people with low self-esteem are unhappy or unsatisfied with themselves most of the time. It takes attention and daily practice to boost a low self-esteem. Self-esteem is your opinion of yourself. People with healthy self-esteem like themselves and value their achievements. While everyone lacks confidence occasionally, people with low self-esteem feel unhappy or unsatisfied with themselves most of the time. This can be remedied but it takes attention and daily practise to boost self-esteem. Self-esteem is strongly related to how you view and react to the things that happen in your life. Suggestions for building self-esteem include:

- Talk to yourself positively – treat yourself as you would your best friend. Be supportive, kind and understanding. Don't be hard on yourself when you make a mistake.
- Challenge negative 'self-talk' – every time you criticise yourself, stop and look for objective evidence that the criticism is true. (If you feel you can't be objective, then ask a trusted friend for their opinion.) You'll realise that most of your negative self-talk is unfounded.
- Don't compare yourself to others – recognise that everyone is different and that every human life has value in its own right. Make an effort to accept yourself, warts and all.
- Acknowledge the positive – for example, don't brush off compliments, dismiss your achievements as 'dumb luck' or ignore your positive traits.
- Appreciate your special qualities – remind yourself of your good points every day. Write a list and refer to it often. (If you feel you can't think of anything good about yourself, ask a trusted friend to help you write the list.)
- Forget the past – concentrate on living in the here-and-now rather than reliving old hurts and disappointments.
- Tell yourself a positive message everyday – buy a set of 'inspirational cards' and start each day reading out a new card and carrying the card's message with you all day.
- Stop worrying – 'worry' is simply fretting about the future. Accept that you can't see or change the future and try to keep your thoughts in the here-and-now.
- Have fun – schedule enjoyable events and activities into every week.
- Exercise – it is such a good boost to the brain for all kinds of things but especially in combatting depression and helping you to feel good. Targets need to be step by step, such as starting with a walk round the block once a day, enrolling at a local gym class or going for a swim.
- Be assertive – communicate your needs, wants, feelings, beliefs and opinions to others in a direct and honest manner.
- Practise the above suggestions every day – it takes effort and vigilance to replace unhelpful thoughts and behaviours with healthier versions. Give yourself time to establish the new habits. Keep a diary or journal to chart your progress.

As you are a college student, you have to create a chain of new associations. A lot of new persons will enter into your life, like your roommates, college mentors, faculty members, resident assistants, and certainly the faculty members, Professors and your HoD. The latter are those people through whom your subsequent life will be shaped. This is why it is important to establish a healthy affiliation with them and bestowing to the basic principles of communal respect.

Some of the Dos and Don'ts in general are

- | | |
|--|---|
| 1. Do be a regular scholar. Come to college in clean and tidy uniform. | 5. Don't get involved and do not be a part of RAGGING, STRIKES and any other bad circumstantial activities inside/outside the campus/hostels |
| 2. Do Let there be grace and sense of purpose in your work and movement | 6. Don't do anything that is derogatory to your self-respect |
| 3. Do Be regular for lectures and take active part in its' conduct | 7. Don't loiter about or outside the classroom while the Lecture is in progress |
| 4. Do Extend your discipline in keeping the classroom and campus clean. | 8. Don't while moving from one Lecture/lecture room to another take care not to disturb others |
| 5. Do Bring only the prescribed text books and note books, proper materials, pen, books etc. | 9. Don't mark underline, or annotate the LIBRARY BOOKS and other LIBRARY material |
| 6. Do Read Newspapers and Magazines regularly | 10. Don't over participate in the class discussions—give others a fair chance to contribute and learn from their input |
| 7. Do Your work and conduct should be such that it brings a good name to the college | 11. Don't leave the class early or unannounced |
| 8. Do Follow up the corrections and suggestions by the Lecturers, Professors and HOD's | 12. Don't act disinterested, pompous or bored |
| 9. Do Be HONEST with your teachers' | 13. Don't correct the Professor in front of the class |
| 10. Do Assume that all tasks/assignments are important and do your best to be sure that your work is done to your best ability and within deadlines | 14. Don't bring other children to class without the Professors' permission |
| 11. Do Take the initiative once in a while to go the extra mile in class or assignments | 15. Don't sleep through the class. Sounds Simple? It's not. Class time |
| 12. Do Develop a positive mental | |
